

OPENING THE SCRIPTURES

(In the Breaking of Bread)

Luke 24:13-53 & John 20:24-29

We've come to remember our Savior who died,
Who rose from the grave and communes at our side;
And opens the Scriptures so we can discern
The things of Himself that will make our hearts burn.

Lord, show us the wounds in your hands and your feet
That prove our redemption is full and complete.
Dispel all the doubts that arise in our hearts,
And give us the peace that Your presence imparts.

And grant us the vision to reach out and touch
Those eloquent wounds that convict us so much;
And put in our hearts that affirmative nod,
That says with conviction, "My Lord and my God."

Then open our eyes to the truths of the Word,
And bring to remembrance the things we have heard;
And give us the wisdom to understand more
That helps us to worship the God we adore.

Bud Morris

7/18/08

Copy and Distribute Freely.

More at www.ChristianPoetique.com

Bud Morris, 800 E Eighth Street, Delavan, IL 61734-9316

(309) 244-7471